SACRAMENTO. The capital of the state and county seat of Sacramento county, is situated on the east bank of the Sacramento river, immediately south of its confluence with the American river, 90 miles by rail and 125 by water northeast of San Francisco. The locality was first settled by Gen. John A. Sutter, in 1839, who established Sutter's Fort, which still stands in the outskirts of the city, an interesting reminiscence of pioneer days. As early as 1849 it was a town of some note, being the objective point for immigrants who crossed the plains, and also a rendezvous and fitting-out place for parties from San Francisco, on their way to the gold mines. It was incorporated as a city Feb. 27, 1850, and from that date has steadily advanced in wealth and population and now contains about 35,000 inhabitants. Since the completion of the Central Pacific R. R. in 1869, it has been an important railroad center; several S. P. Co. trains from San Francisco pass through it daily, including the overland via Ogden, and trains for Portland via Marysville, Chico, Red Bluff, Redding, and other important towns in California and Oregon. It is also connected by the S. P. Co. lines with Placerville, via Folsom and other towns in Sacramento and El Dorado counties and with Oroville, via Marysville. In addition to the facilities for communication by rail, there are steamers plying regularly to San Francisco, as well as to Marysville, Colusa, and other points on the Sacramento and Feather rivers. The State capital was permanently located at Sacramento in 1854, and in 1869 the present capitol building was completed at a cost, including grounds, of about $2,500,000. It is a beautiful and commodious structure, surmounted by a dome rising to a height of 180 feet, from which can be obtained a magnificent view of the Sacramento valley, one of the most fertile districts in the state. The fairs of the State Agricultural Association are held in this city, in September of each year, and for this purpose the society has erected a large pavilion. They also have a park and race-course for the exhibit of stock. Other buildings of note are the Court House, Masonic, Odd Fellows' and Pioneer halls, the Grammar School, and the new building of the California State Bank. Religion is represented by Baptist, Congregational, Christian, Episcopal, Evangelical, Hebrew, Methodist, Roman Catholic, Presbyterian and other church organizations, several of them occupying handsome and commodious edifices. There are in the city 1 national and 3 commercial and savings banks, 3 daily newspapers, and various weekly, semi-weekly and monthly publications. There are 14 public schools, several private schools and business colleges, and 1 art school which is in connection with the Crocker Art Gallery. The latter was presented to the city by Mrs. Margaret E Crocker, widow of Judge E. B. Crocker, and contains 750 costly paintings, the largest and most valuable collection west of the Missouri river. The State Library contains about 60,000 volumes, and the Free Public Library 12,000 volumes. The order of Odd Fellows maintains a library of 8,000 volumes. Sacramento is lighted with gas and electricity. The water-works is the property of the city. The streets are wide, and cross at right angles. The business portion is built of brick, and the residence portion mainly of wood. Many of the dwellings are surrounded by handsome grounds, planted with orange trees, palms, etc. The climate is semi-tropical, and in the open air the year around there is a luxuriant growth of trees and flowers. The principal shipments are fruits of all kinds, green, dried and canned, hops, raisins, wines, flour and nuts. There are 2 large places of amusement, the Clunie Opera House and Metropolitan Theater, each with a seating capacity of about 1,200. There are 2 street-car lines in operation, and telephone communication is maintained throughout the city and with surrounding towns by the Sunset Telephone Co. The assessed value of real and personal property is $14,000,000, and the bonded indebtedness $1,500,000. Tel., W. U. and P. P. Tel. Cable Co Exp., W. F. & Co. Russell D. Stephens, postmaster.

SAN BUENAVENTURA. Ventura county. Name changed to Ventura.

SAN DIEGO. The name of this city means "St. James" and was first given to the famous bay on which it is situated, by Sebastan Vizcaino, who surveyed it in 1602. The history of the city dates back to 1769, when Friar Francis Junipero Serra founded here the first of that chain of missions in the territory which is now embraced in the state of California. The pueblo of San Diego was organized in 1835, making it the oldest municipality in the state. The city had but a slow growth until it was made the Pacific coast terminus of the Santa Fe system in 1885. Then began an era of phenomenal development. Streets have been graded and improved; substantial brick business blocks have been and are still being erected; street railway lines cross the city in every direction; the cable system has several miles in operation; motor roads communicating with progressive suburbs are now running, and more building; electric lights illuminate the city and an extensive gas-works. San Diego has now a population of about 27,000, and among its special advantages is its magnificent harbor—surpassed by none on the Pacific Coast, which gives an area of 17 miles of almost landlocked harbor. There are 10 wharves running into the bay that will accommodate deep-sea vessels, prominent of which is the Spreckels Bros.' wharf, 2022 feet long and 75 feet wide. The sewer system adopted by San Diego is what is known as the Separhte Water Carriage or Waring System. The total length is 4,095 miles, and the pipe ranges from 6 to 24 inches in diameter. This plant is well constructed and in successful operation. San Diego is well supplied with schools within the city limits. There are 13 public schools of various grades, with 62 teachers, and 3.300 scholars; also several colleges and private schools of high standing. There are 22 churches of various denominations, and a free public library, with 7,000 volumes. There are 7 banks, prominent of which is the California National. 3 daily papers, Union and Sun (Republican), and San Diegan (Democratic); all are ably conducted and prosperous journals. Also several excellent weekly and monthly publications. The city is abundantly supplied with water, both from the bed of the San Diego river, and an immense aqueduct 45 miles long, from a mountain reservoir, which furnishes 6,000 miners' inches of water the year round. The Sweetwater reservoir, built by the San Diego Land and Town Company, is capable of holding 6,000,000,000 gallons of water, and can bring under irrigation 700 acres The Southern California, the National City and Otay and the San Diego, Cuyamaca and Eastern R. R. Companies maintain daily communication with many important towns, the former connecting with the S. P. Co's overland line at Colton and with the Atlantic and Pacific R. R. at Barstow. In addition to these roads San Diego will soon have a line connecting it with Salt Lake, and to assist the work have raised a subsidy of $500,000. The steamers of the Pacific Coast S. S. Co. maintain regular communication with San Francisco and intermediate ports, and steamers of another line with Ensenada and other points in Lower California. An appropriation of $300,000 has recently been made for a new public building, and an opera house that will cover a block 150x200 feet is now being built. Exp.,

SAN FRANCISCO. San Francisco is not only the commercial metropolis of California and of the Pacific coast, but it is on the great highway of travel and commerce to the Orient, and thus commands a large share of American trade with China, Japan, Australia and the South Seas. This trade makes it the third importing city in the United States, as well as the fourth in point of the number of letters and papers handled by the postoffice. It ranks eighth in population, ninth in manufactures and first in per capita wealth. Its population is estimated at 350,000, with an assessed valuation of $291,583,668 for real and personal property, and with deposits in the savings banks amounting to $79,085,612. The position and natural advantages of the city have given it an almost unparalleled growth during the last 30 years, and promise in the next half-century to make it second only to New York in size and commercial importance. It has the only capacious harbor between Alaska and Panama; it is on the great central line of travel across the continent; it is the terminus of 4 transcontinental railroads; it is the chief market and distributing point for Northern and Central California—the richest agricultural country west of the Mississippi; it has a climate which is cool in summer, equable in winter, and permits the laborer and artisan to work in the open air throughout the year.

San Francisco is in latitude 37° 46′ north, longitude 122° 24′ west, and lies on the eastern side of a peninsula, with the bay in front, and the Pacific ocean at its back. The peninsula is 6 miles wide, and the city is now built up closely over one-half the distance to the ocean. From north to south the city extends about 8 miles. This peninsula consisted originally of barren sand dunes, covered with a dense growth of live-oak chaparral, and intersected with numerous creeks and lagoons of the bay. This was its condition when, on October 8, 1776, the Franciscan friars added it to their long chain of missions that stretched along the coast from San Diego. On the bay shore, within a mile of the entrance to the harbor, was established the Presidio or barracks of the Spanish garrison. The place had no growth until 1835, when the missions were all secularized. In that year Richardson, an Englishman, established the first trading post in the heart of the present city, and the village that grew up about his store was called Yerba Buena. It was 3 miles from the old mission of San Francisco. The conquest of the State by the Americans transformed Yerba Buena, and in 1847 its name was changed to San Francisco. The gold discovery at once lifted it into prominence, but the first few months saw it well-nigh deserted in the great rush into the mines; but by 1850 the tide set in toward this natural trading post for the State, and its growth was phenomenal. In July, 1848, it had not over 500 people, while by the end of 1849 its population numbered 20,000.

Great difficulties were encountered by the early builders, owing to the many hills, ravines and swamps. To give place for business along the water-front, a portion of the bay, about a mile square, was filled in. Since then a large part of Mission creek has been made solid ground, while at North Beach another large area has been reclaimed from the bay. Hills were leveled and ravines filled up, so that now the comparatively level portion of the city forms an area of 41¾ square miles. Many steep hills and rolling dunes remain and lend picturesqueness to the residence quarter. The highest peak within the city limits is 938 feet in elevation; the Twin Peaks, just back of the Mission, are each 925 feet; while Lone Mountain, a famous landmark, that bears a wooden cross, is 468 feet; Russian Hill, 400; Telegraph Hill, 294; and Rincon Hill, 120. The three latter are in the thickly settled portion of the city. It is estimated that 25,000,000 cubic yards of earth and sand have been removed in grading, and in many parts of the city this work cost more than the value of the property. The city is laid out in rectangular blocks, with streets at right angles, except Market street, the great central highway which cuts through the heart of the city from southwest to northeast, a distance of about 10 miles. It is 100 feet wide, and is the Broadway of San Francisco, lined with many costly buildings. At its foot is the terminus of all the transcontinental railroads, of the Oakland ferries and of the cable and horse railroads.

In the residence quarter nearly all the houses are built of wood, as this is far cheaper than brick or stone, and better adapted to the climate. The cool weather makes San Franciscans eager to get the sun, hence the almost universal use of bay-windows and the absence of shade-trees. The lack of trees is compensated by many fine lawns, which are kept green throughout the year, and by the profusion of flowers and ornamental shrubs which adorn most of the front yards. Semi-tropical plants which thrive only in hot-houses at the east, here grow and bloom in the open air. The 1,200 miles of streets are well paved, mainly with basalt blocks and wooden planks. Many superb residences have been built by railroad and mining millionaires. The crest of California street, known as "Nob Hill," boasts of a score of costly residences, including those of Senator Stanford, which cost $3,000,000; Mrs. Hopkins, $1,500,000; James L. Flood, the Bonanza millionaire, $3,000,000; Chas. Crocker, one of the founders of the Central Pacific Railroad, $1,500,000. In other parts of the city are many residences that cost over $500,000. All these houses are of wood, with the single exception of Mr. Flood's, which is built of Connecticut brown stone. In Senator Stanford's residence the decoration of rooms cost more than $500,000, and the pictures and furniture are valued at $1,000,000.

There has been a great change in the architecture of business buildings within the last fifteen years. The old style was limited to three stories in height because of fear of earthquakes. Now Eastern methods of building prevail, and structures of six or eight stories are being built. Among the notable buildings of the city are the New City Hall, which has already cost $4,000,000, and will require $2,500,000 to finish it; the U. S. Mint, built of California granite and Newcastle Island freestone; the Palace Hotel, the largest hotel in the world, 7 stories high, cost $3,000,000, and will accommodate 1,200 people; the Chronicle Building, 9 stories high, costing $1,000.000; Stock Exchange, Safe Deposit Building, Bank of California, Baldwin Hotel, Phelan Block, Odd Fellows' Hall, The Bancroft Building, Lachman's Building, the Synagogue Emanuel, St. Ignatius Church, the Walkerly Building, the Starr King Building.

One of the chief factors in the development of San Francisco has been the cable-car system, which was started in 1873 on Clay street hill, the road being 2 miles long and overcoming an elevation of 120 feet. Since then, the growth of the cable system has been very rapid, the steep hills of California, Union and Washington streets have been climbed, and the entire cable mileage now amounts to 54 miles, and the horse-railroads to 60. The main cable line is the Market street system, which starts at the foot of Market street, and which has branches that run on Valencia, Haight, Hayes, Castro, Oak and McAllister streets. The managers of this system, composed mainly of the directors of the Southern Pacific Company, also own and operate other street railroads. Other cable lines are the California street, Ferries and Cliff House, Geary street Park and Ocean, Powell street, Presidio and Ferries, Sutter street and the Omnibus. No less than five cable lines extend to Golden Gate Park. These roads, on which the uniform fare is five cents, have brought residence property in the hilly portion of the city within easy reach of the business quarter, and have greatly increased its value. The rapid building up of California, Washington, Jackson, Pacific avenue, Haight and McAllister streets is largely due to these roads.

CITY ADMINISTRATION.

The city government consists of a mayor and a board of 12 supervisors, with city clerk, auditor, tax collector, sheriff and treasurer. Twelve judges preside over as many departments of the Superior Court, while there are police courts and justices' courts. The United States Supreme, Circuit and District Courts also hold sessions here. The police force numbered June 30, 1889, 401 men, who made 23,462 arrests for the fiscal year. The fire department employs 342 men, 17 engines, 8 hose carts and 5 hook and ladder companies; property lost by fire during last fiscal year amounted to $1,042,865.35. The city is supplied with water by the Spring Valley Water Company, which cost $9,000,000; it brings most of its water from San Mateo county, 23 miles distant, in large pipes; daily consumption amounts to 18,000,000 gallons; capacity is 25,000,000 gallons; the company is building one of the largest storage dams in the world, 140 feet high, with a capacity of 40,000,000,000 gallons. Gas is furnished by two companies, whose works cost $6,625,000; daily capacity is 4,000,000 cubic feet.

FINANCES.

San Francisco's assessment roll for 1889 was as follows: Real estate, $240,819,652, as against $211,467,987 in 1888; personal property, $65,153,068. The estimated value of all real estate and investments is $400,000,000. The rate of taxation was $1.72 for $100. Revenue for fiscal year ending June, 1889, was $4,391,025; net funded debt, $876,310. San Francisco savings bank have a paid-up capital of $2,913,333, with deposits of $79,085,612, an increase of $9,158,756. Commercial banks have paid-up capi-

COMMERCE.

The merchandise exports by sea for 1889 were $41,100,523; exports by rail, $467,394,920; total merchandise exports for the year, $508,495,443. Of the exports by sea the following were the chief articles, with comparisons with 1885 and 1887:

| ARTICLES. | 1885 | 1887 | 1889 |
| Wheat | $16,125,218 | $14,647,510 | $16,590,415 |

The treasure exports for 1889 were $20,670,885, against $15,357,303 in 1887. The imports were $7,512,087, against $6,855,308 for 1888. The receipts of treasure by Wells, Fargo & Co. for 1889 were, from California and Nevada, $24,369,071; from Idaho, $8,685,000; Montana, $32,376,000; total, $114,341,592. Duties collected on foreign imports were $9,477,831, as against $7,627,204 in 1887. Internal revenue receipts were $1,660,479.57, as against $1,675,845.67 in 1887.

The merchandise imports by sea in 1889 were $50,468,425, as against $41,606,633 in 1887. Of this amount $14,228,134 was Hawaiian sugar and rice, duty free, an increase of nearly $3,000,000 over 1888. Staple groceries imported in 1889 were: Coffee, 20,272,586 lbs., value $2,923,291; sugar, 317,135,144 lbs., value $15,176,148; rice, 46,603,676, value $1,086,035; tea, 7,489,216 lbs., value $936,718; total, $20,121,700.

The codfishing industry, like whaling, shows a steady decline, as eastern fish can be laid down here for less than it can be packed on this coast. Only 6 vessels went out in 1889, and the total catch was 812,000 fish, being a falling off of 239,000 fish from the previous year. The whaling fleet numbered 48 vessels but the total catch was only 12,235 bbls., and 152,370 lbs. bone. Total value $439,182.

Regular lines of steamers ply between San Francisco and Yokohoma, Hong-Kong, Honolulu and all Australian, Mexican and Central American ports. Of coast steamers there are a large number, one line running as far north as Alaska.

MANUFACTURES.

In the sketch of California will be found a full list of the chief manufactures of San Francisco, with the number of men employed and the capital invested. It will suffice to say that the annual product last year was $116,750,000. The largest manufactures are those of boots and shoes, $5,000,000; breweries, $3,950,000; cigars, $6,900,000; clothing, $6,000,000; flour, $3,950,000; fruit canning, $3,250,000; provisions, $1,900,000; sash, door and blinds, $5,000,000; sugar, $11,000,000; woolens, $1,100,000. There has been a great advance within the last few years in iron ship-building—one of the most extensive plants for ship-building in the country, with a stone dry-dock admitting vessels of 6,000 tons. Here has been built the new government cruiser Charleston, and the cruiser San Francisco is now in process of construction. Most of the steel for these vessels was made here.

PARKS AND PLEASURE RESORTS.

There are 8 public parks in San Francisco, but the only one of any size is Golden Gate Park, with an area of 1,013 acres, a half mile wide, and stretching 3 miles away until it reaches the ocean. About $1,200,000 has been spent in improvements, and the park to-day is one of the most attractive in the country. Among its features are a large conservatory of rare plants, a children's play-ground given by the late ex-Senator Sharon, and a speed-track. The drive to the ocean beach through the park affords many fine views. Among notable statues in the park are those of Garfield, Halleck and Francis Scott Key. Next to the park as an attractive resort is the Presidio Military Reservation, with an area of 1,500 acres. It fronts on the Golden Gate, and has an ocean and bay shore of nearly 4 miles. Here are the officers' quarters and barracks of the United States troops stationed at this place. The fine roads, ornamental trees and plants and superb views of bay, ocean and surrounding hills and mountains make the Presidio even more picturesque than the park. Another pleasant resort is Sutro Park, overlooking the Cliff House and the ocean, which has a fine conservatory and a large number of ornamental trees and plants. The cemeteries, which lie about half way between the heart of the city and the Pacific, may fairly be classed among the parks, as they abound in flowering shubs and plants and command magnificent prospects. Many of the tombs, especially in the Catholic cemetery, are works of art, and several cost $40,000 each.

One of the famous suburban resorts is the Cliff House, built on a high bluff overlooking the ocean and the Golden Gate. About 200 yards distant are several rocky islands, the favorite resort of a large number of sea lions.

San Francisco has been pronounced by travelers the most cosmopolitan city in this country. It has quarters devoted almost exclusively to German, French, Mexican, Portuguese, Italian and Chinese residents. The favorite residence place of foreigners is North Beach; around the slopes of Telegraph Hill it is rare that one hears English spoken, whole streets being occupied by Mexicans, Italians or Portuguese. The Chinese quarter is a reproduction of a section of Shanghai or Canton. It is 4 city blocks in length and from 2 to 3 blocks in breadth. The ordinary blocks are cut into many subdivisions by narrow alleys, and the place swarms with human life, no less than 25,000 Chinese being gathered here. They are very gregarious. Cellars and sub-cellars are utilized, while every inch of space is economized. Partitions, flying galleries and box-like rooms give quarters for hundreds in an ordinary building, while in some of the great lodging-houses as many as 1,000 are packed away. The stores, temples and theaters are fitted up in the native style, and are gorgeous in barbaric red, yellow and gold.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The public school system of San Francisco is one of the best in the country, the appropriations having always been extremely liberal. The number of children of school age in the city in May 1889 was 83,314, an increase of 2,143 over 1888, and the daily average attendance in all the public schools was 31,609. The receipts of the school department for the fiscal year 1888-89 were $916,865.95. The estimated value of public school property in the city was $4,772,180. The number of teachers was 838, of whom 781 were women. Of the school children 45,896 had foreign parents, 13,523 had one foreign parent, while 21,844 had American parents. There are over 100 private schools and colleges in the city, attended by 8,253 pupils. Graduates of the high schools of San Francisco are admitted without examination to the University of California at Berkeley. There are also a number of professional schools in theology, medicine and law, and one art school. Of the libraries in the city, the largest is the Free Library, supported by the state, with 71,000 volumes. The Mercantile has a fine collection of 52,000 volumes, the Mechanics' 40,000, the Odd Fellows' 45,000, and the Law Library 26,000. There are several large clubs, all with good libraries, and many societies also provided with large collections of books. The largest private library in the country is also here, that of Hubert Howe Bancroft, the historian of the Pacific States. It includes 30,000 volumes, and is richer in Americana, especially in works relating to the early history of the Pacific Coast, than any collection in the world. It is valued at $250,000. Upward of 100 newspapers and periodicals are published in the city. The leading daily papers are the Chronicle, Examiner, Call, Alta, Bulletin, Post, Report and Demokrat.

CHURCHES AND CHARITIES.

The various Protestant denominations are represented by over 70 churches and chapels, while the Roman Catholics have 19 churches and many chapels. The Hebrews have 7 synagogues, and the Russo-Greek Church has 2 edifices. The largest church building is St. Ignatius Church and College (Jesuit); the church will seat 6,000 people, and its spires are 275 feet high, the loftiest in the state. The synagogue Emanu-El is also an imposing building. The asylums and benevolent association are numerous, while there are British, German, French, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, Scandinavian, Swiss and Sclavonian societies devoted to the aid of their respective nationalities.

PANORAMA BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG

ISAAC RUDISILL, President,
G. W. SULLIVAN, Secretary.

Corner Market and Tenth Streets.

The celebrated Panorama of the Battle of Gettysburg, corner of Market and Tenth Streets, San Francisco, is a wonderful reproduction of that great and memorable battle. It was gotten up under the auspices of the renowned Dr. Earnest Pierpoint of New York. He, as well as other experts, pronounced this to be the finest of all panoramas in existence. It is, so to speak, an international affair. The Horizon, which has no equal in coloring, was done by that great artist, Mr. Mage. The Sky by an Englishman named Austin. The Figures by Mr. Grover of Chicago, and the Grand Foreground by Mr. J. F. Smith, a German.

The Museum attached has become the Paradise of children, containing Animals, alive and stuffed, a Phonograph, Magic Lantern, Entertainments, etc., etc.

THE GATES ORE and ROCK BREAKER

Will do three times the work of any other with the same cost in wear, while affording a great saving in power.

This is conceded to be the most valuable improvement ever made in the process of reducing ores, producing a product so fine as to add from 30 to 40 per cent. to the output of any kind of a mill without additional expense in running.

The advantages afforded by the GATES are such that it is rapidly superseding all forms of jaw crushers for either ore or macadam.

ST. IGNATIUS COLLEGE,

Van Ness Avenue, Between Hayes and Grove.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

THIS institution, conducted by the Fathers of the Society of Jesus, was opened for the reception of students on the 15th of October, 1855. On the 30th of April, 1859, it was incorporated and empowered to confer Degrees and Academical Honors in all the learned professions, and to exercise all the rights and privileges common to any other literary institution in the United States. The design of this institution is to give a thorough

ENGLISH, CLASSICAL, MATHEMATICAL and PHILOSOPHICAL

EDUCATION.

IT IS INTENDED FOR DAY SCHOLARS ONLY.

The course of Studies embraces the Doctrine and Evidences of the Catholic Religion; the Greek, Latin and English Languages, Poetry, Rhetoric, Elocution, History, Geography, Arithmetic, Bookkeeping, Mathematics, Chemistry, Mental, Moral and Natural Philosophy. The study of the French, German and Spanish Languages, and Practical Telegraphy, is optional.

Besides the Classical, there is a Preparatory and Elementary Department for the younger students. Its object is to qualify the pupil for the higher studies.

This institution, provided with a full staff of Professors, presents the highest advantages for the mental and moral training of the students.

The College having been removed in January, 1880, to its new and permanent location in one of the most eligible parts of the city, extends over a whole square, bounded by Grove, Franklin and Hayes streets and Van Ness Avenue, and possesses the most ample accommodations and improved conveniences for 1,200 students.

The new College Buildings are divided into three principal stories for the three separate departments: the Preparatory, the Literary and Commercial, and the Philosophical and Scientific.

Besides the required Reception Rooms and Offices, large and lofty halls and stairways, several Library Rooms and Debating Halls, distinct play-grounds with covered walks and porticos for the larger and smaller students, the buildings contain a full complement of very capacious school-rooms, well lighted and ventilated, and furnished with the most approved modern conveniences. They possess also a large and well appointed Chapel for Religious Exercises, and a College Hall, 100x145 feet internal dimensions, with spacious platform and stage suitably furnished and arranged for Scholastic Exhibitions, Dramatic Representations, Lectures and other public exercises.

The Scientific Department contains lecture rooms for Physics and Chemistry, a Chemical Laboratory and an extensive Cabinet of Physics, rooms for qualitative and quantitative analysis, engine rooms with magneto-electric machines, battery rooms, complete telegraphic stations, rooms for preparations, balances, spectroscopic studies and other scientific experiments and investigations, Museum of Mineralogy, Geology, and choice collections of natural objects and curiosities of different kinds, and it is furnished with a very large and choice collection of Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus ordered from the best constructors of Europe and America and with all that is necessary for lecture demonstrations and experiments, for private study, and the most complete and delicate chemical analysis and manipulations.

By frequent additions of whatever can be supplied by the best modern inventions, both at home and abroad, this Department has attained a very high degree of completeness and efficiency well calculated to afford to advanced students a most valuable opportunity of acquiring a thorough scientific training and education.

STUDENTS ARE RECEIVED AT ANY TIME DURING THE SEASON FROM JULY TO MAY.

The Institution is open to the Public, and Visitors are Always Welcome.

IMPORTANT ∴ MATTER ∴ TO ∴ STEAM ∴ USERS

Who are about to send out Specifications for either

LAND OR MARINE BOILERS.

If you send your Specifications to boilermakers of the "Butcher" type, they will endeavor to persuade you to use coal-wasting furnace grates and door linings, so that they may bleed you out of a few dollars more. Put the MAILER GRATES AND LINERS in the Specifications, and do not let any selfish boilermaker fool you out of the coal economy that they will give your steam plant.

These Grates and Liners are in use in the furnaces of the new boilers at the Mechanics' Pavilion, and in hundreds of other boiler furnaces.

W. H. BLUETT, M. D.,

Specialist in Chronic Diseases,

1069 BROADWAY, Cor. Twelfth Street,

OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA.

Especially Indigestion, Sympathetic Heart Disease, Dyspepsia, Acidity of the Stomach in all its forms and Chronic Diseases.

DR. W. H. BLUETT has made the study and practice of Indigestion a special branch of his profession, and no Physician in California has treated and permanently cured as many apparently hopeless cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion than he has. His Method of treatment differs widely from any other practitioner's, having stamped his individuality upon his own treatment. It was not learned from books, but having been a sufferer himself for years from Indigestion (it being hereditary in his family), he directed his attention to this particular branch of study as his life-work, and his success has justified the wisdom of that choice. Therefore, he can offer his services to others suffering from Stomach troubles of every kind, with the assurance that if he cannot cure them, it will be of little avail to look elsewhere for relief.

N. B.—Sufferers living in the interior, by corresponding with the doctor, can have a chart sent them by which they can give their symptoms and be treated at their homes with the most satisfactory results.

age, with a climate and surroundings unsurpassed; its fine drives, bordered with luxuriant foliage, elegant residences, and the numerous medicinal springs in the vicinity, all combine to make it one of the most attractive and popular resorts in the state. It is reached by the S. P. C. and the S. P. R. R., all operated by the latter company, and is 150 miles south of Sacramento, and by the shortest route, the S. P. C. line, is 46 southeast of San Francisco. The present population of the city is estimated at 23,000. The assessed value of real and personal property, $16,515,662, with a bonded indebtedness of $500,000, repayable $25.000 annually. These bonds were issued in 1887 to meet cost of City Hall and sewerage. Street improvements are paid for by property holders. It has churches of all denominations, and as an educational center holds a high rank, being the seat of the University of the Pacific, Notre Dame Convent, the State Normal School, the Garden City Business College, and the public schools. The Free Library contains 10,000 and the San Jose Law Library 2,000 volumes. Among its manufacturing interests may be mentioned 2 planing mills, a box factory, 5 foundries, 7 windmill manufactories, a flour mill, 2 feed mills, a pottery, a woolen mill, a furniture factory, 2 tanneries, several large canneries, driers and wineries. The buildings of note are the University, Notre Dame Convent, Catholic Church, Court House, State Normal School, City Hall, Bank of San Jose, and the San Jose Safe Deposit Building. The California Theater has seating accommodation for 1,200. The city is well lighted by gas and electricity; for the latter a tower 200 feet high and several masts of lofty height have been erected. It has excellent water-works, a paid fire department, street railways, and an electric motor road connecting with Santa Clara. Five banks do business here, and 7 newspapers are published, 4 of which are issued daily. During the year 1889 more than $1,000,000 worth of buildings were erected in the city. The Lick Observatory, possessing the largest telescope in the world, is located on Mt. Hamilton, 26 miles from here, and is reached by stage daily, fare $3 round trip. Telephone connection. Tel., W. U. and P. P. Exp., W. F. & Co. Mail, daily. Dr. T. Kelley, postmaster.

TRADE-MARK.

These are the most desirable Copying Books made. By the use of a Pad which retains its moisture a long time, a large number of leaves are kept ready for use at any time, and the letter is copied with uniform clearness. No Copying Press is required, a good impression being obtained by the use of a wooden block furnished with each Book.

BARLOW'S PATENT

Manifold Shipping Receipts

ARE rapidly superseding all others, on account of the saving of time effected, and the accuracy secured. Three receipts are made with one writing, by the use of carbon paper; a method which will at once receive the commendation of shipping clerks, who usually have to write these out "on the jump," and will welcome a style of receipt that saves so much work and delay.

SAN LUIS OBISPO. The judicial seat of San Luis Obispo county, situated in the western portion of the county on the P. C. R'y, 10 miles north of Port Harford, its ocean shipping port, with which it is connected by the above line of railroad. It is 200 miles south of San Francisco, and 196 north of Los Angeles. This city was first settled in 1772, by the Franciscan Friars, who established a mission here at the time, under the Spanish government. It was organized as a town in 1859, and incorporated as a city March 20, 1876. It is located in a picturesque valley surrounded by lofty mountains. Some of the old mission buildings are still in use, occupied by the Catholic church and school, and their ancient style of architecture, cement and adobe walls, and tile roofs, form a quaint attraction to visitors and tourists. There are 3 banks, 5 churches, the Catholic, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist and Methodist South, 2 public school buildings, a private school and a Catholic academy. Has a street railway, court house, city hall, agricultural pavilion, county hospital, water, gas and electric light works and a well equipped fire department, and 2 theater halls, seating capacity 500 each. The press is represented by 2 daily papers, the Republic (Independent), Tribune (Republican), and 2 weeklies, the Tribune (Republican), the Mirror (Democratic). The assessed valuation of real and personal property is $1,200,000, bonded indebtedness $15,000. The shipments consist of grain, fruits, vegetables, wine, stock and dairy products. The surrounding country is devoted to agricultural pursuits, stock-raising, growing oranges, lemons, olives, figs, grapes, prunes, apricots and apples, and mining asphaltum and bituminous rock. The dairy products of this section exceed that of any county in the state. Population, 3,500. Telephone connections with all surrounding points. Exp., W. F. & Co. Tel., W. U. Mail, daily. Wm. S. Canon, postmaster.

The city is the county seat of Santa Barbara county, 288 miles by steamer and 528 by rail south of San Francisco, and via Saugus and the Ventura division, S. P. R. R., 106 northwest of Los Angeles. It has Baptist, Catholic, Congregational, Episcopal, Methodist, Presbyterian and Unitarian churches, with a flourishing Young Men's Christian Association. The public schools, 4 in number, employ 25 teachers, with an attendance of 1,100 pupils. Assessed value of real and personal property, $5,255,461. The city has 2 banks, a public library of 6,000 volumes, gas works and an electric light system, water works, a fire department, telephone communication, street cars, and a theater seating 1,200. The press is represented by 3 papers, the Morning Press, the Evening Independent and the Weekly Herald. Principal shipments, fruits, olive oil, English walnuts, pampas plumes and vegetables. STOCKTON. The county seat of San Joaquin county, was settled by Capt. C. M. Weber in 1847, and was incorporated as a city in 1851, within a year from which it was burnt down, but soon rebuilt on a more substantial basis. Its site is on a level plain in the center of one of the largest and most productive agricultural districts on the Pacific coast. It is on the line of the Southern Pacific Co. (Pacific system) and the Stockton and Copperopolis Railroad, and is located at the head of tide-water navigation, and has about 6 miles of wharfage, most of it well docked, which will always afford the citizens easy, speedy and cheap transportation for their products to market. At present there are 18 steamers and 16 barges plying between Stockton and points upon the upper and lower San Joaquin and the interior waters of California. A line of steamers plies daily between the city and San Francisco. The principal shipments are wheat, flour, hides, wool, chicory, fruit and agricultural implements. For climate, health and varied productions it has no superior. The streets are well laid out, the principal ones being macadamized. Among the manufacturing establishments are 2 flour mills, a paper mill, woolen mill, 3 foundries, 3 large carriage and wagon shops and 4 manufactories of combined harvesters, 2 of which also make street cars in large numbers. The extent of the agricultural district has made the city an important point for the sale and manufacture of agricultural implements, most of which have been invented and manufactured here, and which are made especially to suit the peculiarities of the climate and soil. There are 2 large planing mills, sash, door and blind factory, and 2 furniture factories. All religious denominations are represented, and nearly all have handsome edifices. The State Insane Asylum is located here, and has 1,600 patients. The cost of maintenance is $250,000 annually, nearly all of which sum is disbursed in the city. There are 13 schools, including a kindergarten and a high school, from which pupils can graduate and enter the State University without examination. There are 5 banks, including 1 national, and a free library containing 15,000 volumes. The principal buildings are the State Insane Asylum, Agricultural Pavilion, Masonic Temple, Odd Fellows' Hall, Library Building, Avon Theater, Court House, and Methodist church now approaching completion, There are excellent hotel accommodations. Two daily papers are published, the Independent (Republican) and the Mail (Democratic), both able and enterprising journals. The city is lighted by gas and electricity. Eight gas wells have been developed; the steam at the waterworks is made entirely by natural gas, and 1 large mill is operated entirely by it. The distance from San Francisco by rail is 92 miles, and by boat 100 miles. Tel., W. U. and P. P. Exp., W. F. & Co. Population, 20,000. William C. Smith, postmaster.
Aaron Miss Blanche, teacher South School.
Aaron Charles, blacksmith, 204 California.
